

Abstract

A high quality DAC is provided for a lower cost (including the layout size of the circuit on an audio chip) of high end DACs. The DAC includes a first circuit configured to remove even harmonics from a sigma delta circuit, and a second circuit configured to 5 remove odd harmonics.